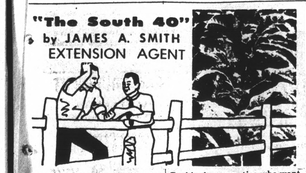
"The South 40" by JAMES A. SMITH EXTENSION AGENT



Forage producers need to be looking for alfalfa seed for spring planting. When alfalfa is seeded in the spring it's important to use a herbicide to control competing weeds. In prior years Eptam and Balan have been the recommended materials. For 1976 Tollan also has label clearance for alfalfa.

Arc alfalfa seed was in very limited supply last spring but should be readily available this year.

There's another group of alfalfas that may have a place in our forage system and certainly a small acreage should be tried. They are Waterman-Loomis, which are generally identified with "WL" as a prefix to a number. WL 311 was the top yielding variety at the Orange Station in 1974 and 1975. In 1974 WL 311 had a yield of 6.74 tons compared to 5.70 for Williamsburg and in 1975 WL 311 yielded 6.82 compared with 5.94 for Williamsburg. The disease resistance of WL 311 may be the reason for increased yield.

Plan early for spring seeding by locating a seed and herbicide source.

In the next couple of weeks farmers will need to consider re-establishing clover in orchardgrass and fescue pastures. This can be done satisfactorily with a wheat drill while soil moisture is high and soil fairly safe. We are still high on the use of Tillman Clover rather than Ladino. Tillman carries more disease resistance and will have more longevity. Last year it was selling for a nickle more per pound.

* * *

We'll have the zip seeder available for your use again this spring. Right now we have the machine requested for 70 acres in this county, but there are producers in Campbell and Buckingham counties who want to use the machine.

If you plan to use it, give us a call soon giving acres and date wanted.

At the Annual Meeting Virginia Animal Breeders Association last week the stud representative said in 1974 there were only 5 holstein bulls in their battery with over 900# PD, while in 1975 there were 25 bulls with a PD of 900 pounds plus.

Diarymen can make significant progress by developing a mating plan using high production bulls.

* * *

I know that many have already purchased seed corn for 1976 planting, but how many have studied The Virginia Corn Performance Trials in 1975.

In most cases you'll only use three to five varieties. A study of the 94 corn varieties at the Orange Station, using the two-year averages, show that there are two varieties in the early maturity group that averaged 142.5 bushels or 13 percent better than the average. In the mid-season maturity group there are three varieties with 97 percent stalks averaging 145 bushels or 12 percent better than the average.

* * *

If you are going to make the production of corn meaningful, you'll need to select varieties not because you used them last year or a neighbor liked them, but select varieties that will stand-up in field, has good grain quality and was in the top 2 to 5% of the varieties tested under like conditions for at least two years.

Now, if you have a Johnsongrass problem and, therefore, an MDM problem, you've got to use an MDM resistant variety.

Use Label on Tax Return To Speed Refund

Richmond - Taxpayers can speed their refunds by attaching the pre-addressed lable to their returns when filing, James P. Boyle, IRS District Director for Virginia, said today.

"If returns are otherwise error-free and all necessary documents are attached," Boyle said, "these labels speed processing of refund checks."

The label, included in the tax package that taxpayers receive in the mail, lists the taxpayer's name, address, and social security number.

Boyle emphasized that if the name, address, and social security number on the label is incorrect, taxpayers should make corrections right on the label.

On a joint return, Boyel added, if only one social security number appears on the label, the other spouse's number should be entered on the appropriate line on the return.
